

Amsterdam Marathon 2012

The Netherlands

October 21st 2012

AMSTERDAM MARATHON 2012

On Sunday 21st of October 2012 the 37th edition of the Amsterdam Marathon will take place. The route is partly the route from the Olympics of 1928.

Programmed are the marathon, the Mizuno Half Marathon, 8 km, the 1K Runaway and the Mini Marathon. Last year the athlete Wilson Chebet from Kenia won the marathon. He set a time of 2.05.53.

This years start and finish will be at the Olympic Stadium, right in front of the seats of honour. The Mizuno Half Marathon starts on the “Stadionweg”. The 8 km starts on the “Stadionplein”. Both runs will finish in the Olympic Stadium. The route will be more or less the same as last year. With its many highlights, the route through Amsterdam’s city centre would also fit a sightseeing tour at a slower pace. Taking in the Olympic Stadium (built in 1928), the nature reserves on both sides of the river Amstel, the Maritime Museum, the historic canals, Rijksmuseum and the attractive Vondelpark (which will feature twice during the marathon).
